Shanghai, 6th March, 1585. The notification must be pronounced most unsatisfactory, by reason of the vagueness of its most essential part, namely, that refer- shafts, boilers, boiler plates, tubes, fire bars and every ring to the action of the British Govern- pitch, tar, rosin, cordage and other naval stores and ment. The ordinary reading would be that the British Government would assent to the treatment of rice as contrahand in special cases, but not generally. This being so, it is the duty of the Government, in the interests of commerce, to define what are the special cases in which a vessel would render herself liable to be treated as carrying contraband of war, so that such employment may be avoided without interruption to the trade in "rice generally," to use the vague term of the consular notification. Our own interpretation would be that while the right of the French to stop the carriage of tribute rice, or stores for the enemy's army in places where hostilities are in progress is recognised, the right of British vessels to carry on the ordinary trade in rice to other places would be maintained by the Government. Vessels which were leaving with rice cargoes for Canton when the French notification was issued dis charged their rice rather than run any risk. This was no doubt a prudent course at the time, and the same course may be prudent still, seeing the obscurity of the information afforded by the British Covernment. At the has been received at that port stating that the same time we are inclined to think that if the French seized a cargo of rice bound for some part of China where bostilities are not in progress, or threatened, the owner would tribute rice, it must be conceded, as a matter of principle, that a belligerent can take no are not confiscable, that is, when not destined for a besieged or blockaded port or not comprenied by other prominent characteristics of a manifestly hostil nature, the opposing belligerent, in order to prevent their being used by his enemy for warlike operations is, by the belligerent right of pre-emption, entitled to take over, by parchase, these commodities of war, when found on their way to his enemy. In this case, the purchase is effected at the mercantile value of goods including a reasonable profit, usually of ten per cent. of the amount, and full freight is paid to the owners of the vessel carrying the goods, and indomnity for detention.

The commerce between neutrals and belligorents articles exclusively used for peaceful purposes, in pro. to the probable safety of their consignments of visions and in all other objects directly necessary for the sustenance of life, is permitted, and such goods are not liable to science and condemnation as contrahand, unless destined for a besieged or blockaded place. Curaçoa, who with about half of his crew had worked very hard to save the vessel, to fire two or three shots into the vessel. Signals were therefore made from the Penang to the Curaçoa, and a launch was sent off armed with a 7-pounder from which two shots were fired at short range the first penetrating the plates just above the water line; the second shot went a little wide and it was therefore necessary to fire a third shot, which took effect below the water line. Th boats were then again brought alongside and resumed pumping water into the hold, and the ship began to settle down rapidly; the hold being now entirely submerged. The Penang is insured by the underwriters at Lloyds, and the cargo is insured in several offices for $30,000 in all. The proportion of loss apon the cargo will no doubt be trifling, only the rattans in the forehold being destroyed by fire, and the remainder of the cargo merely submerged. The vessel only lies in

D. Startseff. The occasion was Li Hung-chang's birthday. The Viceroy was too dispirited by the reprimands he had received from Peking. Amongst them was one for the mess he had made of the France-Chinese affair. So he could extra transport and muleteers' corps. this it may be seen that some Chinese know now to honour their special friends; if necessary even against their etiquette and-general customs. It has, no doubt, it is thought, much to do with the missionaries that this change has come over the old scruples of the Chinese; also to the lately arrived Germans, whose mis-

TIN MINING IN PERAK.

.The following interesting account of the progress of this industry is taken from an article in the Penang Gazetts of the 26th February :-The Melbourne Tin Mining Company, as also the Melbourne Perak Tin Mining Company, after many mistakes and losses, are now on payable tin and will shortly rival the old-established producers in Larut. By the steamer Diomed. now almost due, will arrive here the whole machinery, &c., ordered for the Straits Smelting Company's Works, all of which the Perak Government has arranged to deliver by rail from Port Weld. We are informed on the authorityof Mr. Grove, the local managing director, that smelting operations will be commenced within three months from this date, and that, by two producers, a turn out of ten tons or over - day has been guaranteed. Mr. R. McKun; been appointed Manager of the Smelting ton pany's Works, having been selected by Mr. Grave himself, on the best recommendations, in Australia. Mr. Lamont, the patentee of Lamont's Patent Water Jacket Furnaces, has also sent out one of these for the same Company, so that there will be sufficient smelting-power to meet the produce of the field. Mr. Grove informs us that he has orders from Australia to send twenty tons per week to one firm in France, by the mail steamer, passing through Penang; and negociations are new on foot to meet the orders of merchants in China, America, and England, -also from

The Water-race of the Taiping Tin Mining Company shows a streak of work along the face of Speedy's Hill, but there is as yet, no sign of turbines or pipes at the terminus. Probably Mr. display of energy.

We now come to the Union Tin Mining Company's Mines. They have been known hitherto as Mr. Grove's private. Mines; but we learn from Mr. Grove that he has divided his interest in these with the Hon. Alexander Stewart, the Premier of New South Wales and his firm, with whom he has had long and extensive business relations as Proprietor of the Union Tin Mining passengers were saved. Company. The christening of the Works on these Mines took place last Monday morning, in the presence of Mr. C. V. Creagh, the Resident, Misses Grove, Major Walker, Capt. Giles, and about sixty Europeans. The Manager, Mr. W. R. Grove, kept strict time to his invitations and started the Water Wheel, Session. Californian Pump, Engine, Puddling Cylinder and Gigger, exactly at 7 a.m. Miss Ellen Grove threw the orthodox bottle of champagne into the cylinder, and, as far as could be distinctly heard above the noise of machinery and the excitement, and enthusiasm prevailing, said :- "Success to, 'Groves' No. I., Union Company. I hope, Ladies and Gentlemen, to see the day here in Thaipeng, when Groves' No. 2, No. 3 and No. 4, and many more shall have been established; and I also hope that 'The Union Company of Thaipeng' will prove as prosperous as the same Union Company has proved in Australia?

This interesting ceremony, which was brought to a close with hearty cheers repeated again and again, having been concluded, the Company proceeded on an inspection of the Mines so different to anything of the kind ever seen before in Larcot, an inspection which it is a mild way of putting it to say-simply amazed the officials and Chinese Mine owners. We hope to be able in a later issue to place before our readers some details of the working of these mines; meantime we can only further say that the Tin was turned out almost instantly where the dressing machine was used, equal to 74 per cent-without a speck of sand being discernible.

An adjournment then took place to the Chiness Camp, which the Manager had prepared for his guests. The Resident (Mr. Creagh) proposed "The Health of Mr. Grove," and Success to Groves' No. 1, Union Tin Mining Company" in a speech highly appreciative of the subjects of the teasts. Mr. Greve, in responding, said he felt not only the gratification of a powerful officer's praise but recognised, in the terms in which the toast had been placed before them, a personal proof of that same kind-ness that had actuated all present in turning out so early as they had done that morning to show, by their presence there on this occasion, their interest in this further proof of the progress of the Tin Mining Industry in Laroot-an interest which they could only manifest by their presence after making the sacrifices involved in a journey over a road which, he could conscient ionaly certify, was second to none he had ever travelled over, in India, New Zealand or India-for mud, orab-holes and neglect. The disease commences with a slight derangement of the stomach, but, if neglected, it is time involves the whole frame, embracing the kidneys, liver, pancreas, and, in fact, the entire glandular system, and the afflicted drags but a miserable existence until death gives relief from suffering. The disease is often mistaken for other complaints: but if the reader will ask himself the following questions, he will be able to determine whether he himself is one of the afflicted :- Have I distress, pain, or difficulty in breathing after eating ? Is there a dull, heavy feeling attended by drowsiness P. Have the eyes yellow tinge? Does a thick, sticky mucou gather about the gums and teeth in the mornings. accompanied by a disagreeable taste? Is the tongue coated? Is there pains in the side and back? Is there a fulness about the right side as if the liver were enlarging P Is there costiveness? Is there vertigo or dizziness when rising suddenly from a horizontal position? Are the secretions from the kidneys scanty and highly coloured, with a deposit after standing ! Does | flatulence or a belching of gas from the stomach? These various symptoms may not be present at as the dreadful disease progresses. If the case be one of long standing, there will be a dry, pectoration. In very advanced stages the skin | 1 perspiration. As the liver and kidneys become and the usual treatment proves entirely unavailorigin of this malady is indigestion or dyspepsis, and a small quantity of the proper medicine will remove the disease if taken in its incipiency. POST-OFFICE NOTICES on the 18th inst.

Attention is invited to the following par ticulars on the subject of Local Delivery:

LOCAL DELIVERY.—No delivery is attempted on board Ship, at the Peak, Kowloon, Aherdeen, &c., nor at any private house (even though named in the address) when there is a place of business nearer, at which delivery can be effected (Postal Guide, par. 159).

The above Regulation is not now, but has been the invariable rule of the Post Office for many years. Considerable efforts have been made to secure its being generally understood. To prevent however, if possible, any further disappointment in the matter, it will appear permantly on the Mail Lists issued twice every day from the Daily Press Office.

The Postal Guide for 1885, revised to date will be found in the Daily Press Directory. p. 393 large edition, p. 657 small edition. This Postal information published in Hongkong.

The authorised List of Mails issued in connection with this paper is the one published twice each day in our Extra, which is always corrected to a much later hour than that given A MATL WILL CLOSE.
